MARRIAGE MATTERS

Do you ever feel exhausted?

The frantic pace of modern life can leave us exhausted, and yet we often dismiss the idea of getting away with our spouse as frivolous. In this weekend's readings, Jesus meets with his apostles after some hard work. Jesus commands "Come away by yourselves and rest a while." If it were selfish, Jesus wouldn't command it!

As married people, our spouse is a great channel of God's grace and rest for us. Why not take time away to relax, and to be refreshed by the love between you and your spouse? Consider getting away for a Date Night at the upcoming Marriage Matters Ministry event at St. Charles on Aug. 11th. For more information on the offerings of Marriage Matters Ministry, please email us at marriagemattersinthehead@gmail.com

THE PASTORALS ON SUNDAY

A week-by-week resource from the Pastoral Letters of the Bishops' of Rome, of the Second Vatican Council, and of the Bishops' Conference of the United States

SEVENTEENTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

2 Kings 4:42-44	When they had eaten, there was some leftover.
Ephesians 4:1-6	Live a life worthy of your calling.
John 6:1-15	Jesus took the loaves, gave thanks and passed them around.

Jesus' concern for the hungry around him sets the tone for the church's interest in the economy of the U.S. and the world. While addressing himself to their spiritual welfare, he could have felt justified in ignoring their physical well-being. However, his love for his people made it impossible for him not to feed them.

The connection between Christian discipleship and Christian mission is well expressed in the ancient tradition of the multiplication and sharing of loaves. Although each gospel presents the tradition in its own way, all of them emphasize the missionary implications of the passage. The disciples are overwhelmed by the demands of the mission and ask Jesus to send the people away to provide for their own needs. Jesus replies that the disciples themselves should give the crowd something to eat. He then takes bread, blesses, breaks and gives it to the disciples to distribute. When they share the little they have, everyone is wonderfully nourished. Through these accounts, some of the most beautiful and moving in Scripture, the New Testament relates mission to the Christian experience of hospitality and Eucharist. Like the disciples in Mark's gospel who gathered in small communities of fifty and a hundred, we must be willing to share Christ's nourishment with other parishes and dioceses. We must also be willing to bring this nourishment to other lands and gather all nations, all peoples, at the table of the Lord.

A STEWARDSHIP MOMENT

In today's second reading, St. Paul reminds us that Christ is creating a new world order: one that brings about relationships based on love, peace, reconciliation, hope and unity. As a Eucharistic community, we are stewards of Christ's new creation. How are we promoting peace and reconciliation in our own lives? How are we showing love for our neighbors? What are we doing to encourage unity and understanding among those with whom we gather around the Lord's Table each week?

The Nazareth Page
A gospel meditation for the home
July 22, 2018 – 16th Sunday in Ordinary Time
Mark 6:30-34

It is mid-summer. It's a good time to recall the song, "Summertime." Many of us can fill in the next line: "When the livin' is easy." Summer is often connected with the idea of holiday and vacation. Travel and leisure. A time to take it easy. Today's gospel addressed the importance of taking a breather when needed. It's akin to a Sabbath rest – although in this instance, there is no mention of that. Still, Jesus noticed that the disciples were busy with pressing crowds and ceaseless activities and that they needed a break. So, he said, "Come away by yourselves to a deserted place and rest awhile."

Historians note that the Jewish religion was the first to create a week with a built-in rest day, the Sabbath. In earlier times, ordinary people were expected to work all the time, especially if they were slaves or servants. But in the Judaic Law there was a provision for a different arrangement of time. In fact, it was a major addition. It was even said to originate in God's own work schedule as described in the Book of Genesis. God rested on the seventh day.

What's behind this new arrangement of the days of the week? Two things come to mind. First, the recognition that when life is all work, even work itself can be negatively affected. Workers become worn down. Productivity diminishes. Accidents are more common. And people can become depressed. So, the addition of a rest period can actually enhance productivity.

But even more important is that a central human and spiritual need is addressed, that of living life as enjoyable, delightful and with greater happiness. This can even be traced to God's intent for creating us in the first place. God created us because God loves us and intends that we be happy. This idea can even be found in official teachings of the church. And achieving moments of happiness is more assured when we allow ourselves times of leisure, rest and enjoyment. And Jesus knew this. One of the most important (and often overlooked) aspects of his life was times when he simply took time to share meals, play with children and when needed, rested. Sometimes he did this alone and sometimes with others. We don't need a reason to do something similar. He recommends this for his first disciples and he would for us, too.
