THIRD SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

Jonah 3:1-5, 10

Jonah announces God's message to the Ninevites

1 Corinthians 7:29-31

The world as we know it is passing away.

Mark 1:14-20

Come after me; I will make you fishers of people.

When Jesus called the disciples to follow him, they immediately abandoned their nets but not their work. They were given a far more challenging work that would take them in directions they never dreamed, a work that we are called to continue.

The Church is a community of disciples whose members are endowed with unique gifts but who share a common vocation to follow Christ. Baptism is our point of entry into this discipleship. Through this sacrament we become new persons in Christ. We are formed into God's people, forgiven our sins, rescued from the powers of darkness, and brought to the dignity of adopted daughters and sons. Baptism configures women and men to Christ, making them members of his Body and, therefore, his image and presence in this world. Through confirmation, we are signed with the gift of the Spirit; we are more perfectly configured to the image of Christ and strengthened for our task of mediating his saving grace to the world. Through Eucharist, we share in the sacrificial gift of Christ's body and blood; under the visible signs of bread and wine, we are drawn into communion with God and with one another. Hence, through the sacraments of initiation- baptism, confirmation, and Eucharist- every Christian person, male and female, is enabled to carry out the mission of Christ in the Church and in the world. To belong to and to participate in this Church is the ordinary way Christians come to know salvation and to help others to salvation.
