A Week-by-Week Resource from the Pastoral Letters of the Bishops of Rome, of the Second Vatican Council, and of the Bishops' Conference of the United States.

FIFTEENTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

AMOS 7:12-15 Go, prophesy to my people Israel.
EPHESIANS 1:3-14 God chose us before the world began.
MARK 6:7-13 Jesus sent out the Twelve.

Jesus does not send his disciples into an unfriendly world without giving them the tools to survive: non-violence, forgiveness, repentance and his love.

We cannot be frightened by the magnitude and complexity of these problems. We must not be discouraged. In the midst of this struggle, it is inevitable that we become aware of greed, laziness, and envy. No utopia is possible on this earth; but as believers in the redemptive love of God and as those who have experienced God's forgiving mercy, we know that God's providence is not and will not be lacking to us today.

A STEWARDSHIP MOMENT

Today's Gospel reveals Jesus as being amazed that the people in his hometown of Nazareth do not accept his teaching and ministry; he is taken aback by their lack of faith (Mk 6:6). Good stewards recognize and participate in Christ's teaching, reconciling and healing presence in their community. Are we good stewards of our family of faith? Do we value and support the ministries that take place in Christ's name? Are we attentive to the movement of the Holy Spirit in our parish and encourage those who work to enhance our life of faith?

PLEASE REMEMBER RISEN CHRIST PARISH IN YOUR WILL!

The Nazareth Page
A gospel meditation for the home
July 8th, 2018 – 14th Sunday in Ordinary Time Mark 6:1-6

Is Jesus not the carpenter's son? We know his family. We know where he comes from. We saw him grow up in our midst. We know his laughter and his tears. We've watched him day after day. He played with our children. He danced at our festivals. He helped his dad at the shop. He's not special because he is one of us. Don't expect more.

I am adding to the words of today's gospel but not without purpose. I want to highlight the "problem" that those who knew him well and concluded that Jesus was in no way special. And that same reasoning can also spill over into how we think about ourselves. Let's call it the problem of familiarity. Let's also call it the problem of thinking about ourselves as "just ordinary" and therefore, "insignificant."

I have spent the last fifty years of my life as a biblical theologian, a professor and a lay person in the church trying to argue that it's often the ordinary and unspectacular things of life that hide a richness and significance for building God's Kingdom in our midst. Too often we are tempted to only look for God's presence in the spectacular, the miraculous and the unusual. Or only during those moments we call religious. We exclude what happens daily or what simply seems part of the ordinary passage of time. If there's no religious fireworks, there's no need to notice or expect that what's witnessed is in any way sacred or holy. And thus, God is not there.

The locals' tendency for not seeing anything special about Jesus does not in any way mean that their judgment is final, much less accurate. I believe, they don't see anything extraordinary about Jesus because they are not looking for it. They've grown accustomed to his looks- a line drawn from a popular song of my earlier days. They notice what's on the surface, but seek nothing deeper. Further, and this is equally important, they are unaware of anything special about themselves. They too are just ordinary.

Jesus came into our lives to point out that everyone is sacred because everyone is deeply loved by God. No exceptions! And that everything we do that is good is important – now and forever. So, what do you see? Just a carpenter's son?

A Story About Giving

A Beautiful Tale for the Whole Family

Christ said: "unless you turn and become like children, you will never enter the kingdom of heaven" (Mt 18:3). In this animated storybook narration, young Thomas's pure heart helps him to see the path to heaven and inspires his family to join him on the journey.

Watch on formed.org

"This is an absolutely delightful story, with a much deeper meaning than what appears on the surface! I loved it for many reasons, but especially because it reminded me of several incidents with some of my own grandchildren . . ."
