A STEWARDSHIP MOMENT

Twenty-eighth Sunday in Ordinary Time Weekend of October 10/11, 2020

There are a number of Bible verses Christians have memorized. One of them is in Saint Paul's letter to the Philippians found in this weekend's second reading: "I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me" (4:13). Most people define themselves either by their problems or their possibilities. Fearful people wake up each morning ensnared by their problems. Christian stewards wake up reflecting on their possibilities with confidence and hope. Some stewardship reflection questions for the week: What challenges do you back away from because you doubt that you are up to them? What would you attempt tomorrow if you were sure God would help you?

SEEKING PEOPLE WHO LOVE TO DECORATE!

We are seeking people who would like to be on our decorating committee. We need a coordinator and a team to work under the coordinator. If you are interested, please contact Fr. Stan or the parish office.

READINGS FOR THE TWENTY-NINTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

October 18, 2020

Isaiah 45:1,4-6

Thessalonians 1:1-5b..... Matthew 22:15-21

PRACTICE OF HOPE

We respond to the love that God has planted in our hearts by offering our lives in service to God. When we fulfill our obligations to worship and serve God at all times, in our interactions with others, in our use of time and money, and in the choices we make each day, we show that God is first in our lives. In all that we do, we seek to repay to God, who loved us first, “what belongs to God.” ♦Mindful that our daily obligations are opportunities to serve God, recommit to offering each choice and action for God’s glory. ♦The Vatican II Decree on the Apostolate of the Laity points to the role of the laity in the mission of the Church of evangelizing and sanctifying the world. The document states, “Everywhere and in all things they must seek the justice of God’s kingdom” (7). Consider the many ways in which you are called to work for the Kingdom. ♦Take this verse from today’s Responsorial Psalm to heart and pray it frequently this week: “Give the Lord glory and honor.”

WORD OF LIFE

“I would now like to say a special word to women who have had an abortion. The Church is aware of the many factors which may have influenced your decision, and she does not doubt that in many cases it was a painful and even shattering decision. The wound in your heart may not yet have healed. ...But do not give in to discouragement and do not lose hope. ...The Father of mercies is ready to give you his forgiveness and his peace in the Sacrament of Reconciliation.”

ST. IGNATIUS OF ANTIOCH, BISHOP & MARTYR, FEAST DAY OCTOBER 17TH

This Syrian-born martyr, who gave himself the nickname "God-bearer" because of his certainty of God's presence within him and who may have been a disciple of St. John the Evangelist, became bishop of Antioch about 69. Eventually he was arrested and sent to Rome, where his strong desire for martyrdom was fulfilled when he was thrown to the lions in the Coliseum. In seven letters written to Christians in Asia Minor and Rome, he stressed the need to heal church conflicts, the authority of local bishops and the Eucharist as a source of unity.

The Nazareth Page
A gospel meditation for your home
October 11, 2020 – Twenty-eighth Sunday in Ordinary Time
Matthew 22:1-14

In my extended family we recently celebrated a wedding. My nephew was the groom. A few of those closest to the couple were present at the ceremony, all masked and socially distanced. I was “present” via Zoom, at home, as were many others. The wedding was originally planned for a large group. But given the situation with COVID-19, the numbers had to be limited.

Thus, what was originally to be a large and gala event had to be modified. A new kind of celebration took place. The families and friends of the bride and groom respected the public health measures now in place. It wasn’t the kind of celebration that was originally planned. Still, it was a joyful spiritual event for all, those close by and those distanced.

I was reminded of this wedding celebration as I read today’s gospel about another wedding feast. Jesus used the image of a wedding to describe God’s Kingdom. But not just your average run-of-the-mill wedding. This wedding was arranged by the king himself. His son was to be married. Such a wedding would be at the top of the social calendar of the many who were invited. Imagine what it would be like. All the important people of the realm would be there. There would be delicious food and drink for all. Lots of music and dancing. It could be the most important social event of the year. Maybe of the decade.

We know what happened. And it was something that greatly bothered the king – and likely his son. Those who were originally invited said they did not want to attend. The king repeated his invitation by reminding them that there would be ample food for all. They still said, no. The king was infuriated. To him this made no sense whatsoever. So, the king tore up the original list of invitees and told his servants to invite “whoever they met.” In other words, open wide the doors to the feast. Everyone was welcome. And to those who were originally invited, well, deal with them harshly.

What can we take from this parable? In general, it states that God’s invitation to enter the Kingdom of God is now open to all. That’s an absolute. In Matthew’s Gospel, special mention is made of God’s invitation to tax collectors and sinners. Recall that Matthew himself was a tax collector, a generally despised occupation in those days. If we ever think we are unworthy of God’s love and care, think again. If we wonder if God’s invitation is limited to only a few. That’s not the case. We are all invited.
