PRACTICE OF FAITH

Allowing ourselves the time to be physically still and silent may seem like a luxury, but doing so is necessary in our efforts to engage more fully with our Creator. In today's Gospel, Jesus urges his apostles, "Come away by yourselves to a deserted place and rest a while". Many of us have a constant need to connect with the news and with others and so are reluctant to set aside our phones, electronic games, and the internet. Since any meaningful relationship needs attention and nurturing, our most important one – with God – requires quiet reflection. ♦Choose a day to lock your phone in a drawer for the evening. ♦Check out resources that can lead you toward making a retreat, even for a short time in your home. ♦Consider: www.ignatianspirituality.com; Moment by Moment: a Retreat in Everyday Life, by Carol Ann Smith; Open the Door: A Journey to the True Self, by Joyce Rupp; The First Spiritual Exercises: Four Guided Retreats, by Michael Hansen; and Befriending Silence: Discovering the Gifts of Cistercian Spirituality, by Carl McColman.

In some way or another, we have all been affected by Church scandals. In this episode of The Search Continues, Chris Stefanick and Dr. John Sehorn discuss how we are to respond to these evils. TRUTH TO INSPIRE: ST. KATERI TEKAKWITHA

St. Kateri Tekakwitha, otherwise known as the "Lily of the Mohawks," became our first Native American Saint after her canonization in 2012. During her life, young Kateri suffered much ridicule due to her counter-cultural decision to remain a virgin out of love for Christ. As we celebrate Kateri's feast day today, enjoy this short audio book that describes Kateri's journey to Our Lord within the context of her native tribe.

The Nazareth Page
A gospel meditation for your home
July 11, 2021 – 15th Sunday in Ordinary Time
Mark 6:7-13

Today's gospel recalls the time when Jesus sent out his first followers to communicate to others his message and report on his deeds. Yet he was not a soloist but a communal one who sought the help of others. So, he nurtured disciples not just for their own good, but for them to reach out to others, to spread the Word of God to the ends of the earth, a project by the way that continues to this day.

What's especially notable to me is that he sent them out in twos. Would it not have been more efficient to send them out individually? Then they could cover more ground. Make more contacts. Be more efficient.

But he didn't, and I think for good reason. The message and the ministry of Jesus is not intended as a private reality. It was to be shared. It was to be lived communally.

This makes me think of Pope Francis, who, when asked where he would like to live as pope (traditionally, it was assumed to be at the papal apartments in the Apostolic Palace) surprised everyone when he said he'd prefer to live in Domus Sanctae Marthae (St. Martha's House) named after the close friends of Jesus, Martha, Mary and Lazarus, who lived together in Bethany, just outside Jerusalem.

St. Martha's House was built a few years before as temporary quarters for those having business with the Holy See. Or as a residence for elderly cardinals during a conclave. It is comfortable but in no way luxurious. Pope Francis explained his choice for living arrangements as pope with the simple words, "I must live my life with others."

What a brilliant summary of the essence of living the Christian life! While we all need restful and prayerful moments of solitude, even more do we need to live a vibrant life with others. Recall that in the mind of Jesus the second commandment (love thy neighbor) is intimately connected with the first commandment (love God). At the Last Supper, Jesus said that we should love one another as he loves us.

Returning to why Jesus sent out his first disciples "two by two," we touch on something very important in our faith. As I write this with the pandemic lessening, Catholic parishes are beginning to open to full participation in the Eucharist by all parish members. This is not just "to fill the pews" but at a deeper level, it is to embody a central aspect of the Christian life. Echoing Pope Francis, we are to live our lives with others whenever we can.
